

INTERSECTOR SUPPORT

FROM THE INTERSECTOR PROJECT

Intersector Support is a unique combination of facilitation, mediation, and project advisory services that aims to improve the efficacy of your cross-sector collaboration and minimize its need for costly ongoing external support.

With years of experience examining successful collaborations and creating high-quality resources for practitioners, The Intersector Project brings expertise rooted in process, or the “how” of cross-sector partnership. Through Intersector Support, we lead a small number of meetings with collaboration partners, emphasizing key design choices that influence collaborative success and nurturing your collaboration’s capacity to manage conflict and work effectively.

We offer two types of pro-bono support based on where your collaboration is in its process.

LAUNCHPAD SUPPORT

Offered to a collaboration still in its early stages. Sample objectives include:

- Ensure partners have a shared understanding of the problem they are seeking to influence through collaboration.
- Clarify the financial and non-financial assets available to the partnership and how partners intend to use them.
- Establish a governance structure for the collaboration.
- Agree on the components of an operating culture for the collaboration.
- Establish a shared agenda and work plan for the collaboration.

REALIGNMENT SUPPORT

Offered to an active collaboration experiencing conflict. Includes relevant components of Launchpad Support. Sample objectives include:

- Facilitate a solution to a specific problem using a mediated approach.
- Address the deficiencies that may have led to the problem, increasing future capacity to work productively.

The Intersector Project is piloting this initiative pro-bono this spring with up to three projects only. If your project is a multi-sector initiative involving government, business, and non-profit partners in the New York City area, contact Neil Britto at neil.britto@intersector.com by June 10 to learn more and inquire about your project’s suitability for this service.

The Intersector Project is a non-profit organization that seeks to empower practitioners in the government, business, and non-profit sectors to collaborate to solve problems that cannot be solved by one sector alone. We present real examples of collaborations in many places, across many issues and illuminate the tools that make them successful.
